SELL GRAIN THROUGH CATTLE

Farmer Who Puts Feed Into Steers and Returns Manure to Land is One Who Succeeds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
An investigation into methods and costs of beef production in the corn belt, conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, covering three years, and 100 farms, shows interesting facts concerning the present status of the industry. The man who feeds cattle is marketing his crops as he feeds them, and, therefore, is justified in expecting a return equivalent to average market prices for the feeds. Even if he sometimes falls short of a return he has not necessarily experienced a loss. The corn belt farmer who sells grain sometimes receives more for his crop than the one who feeds it to cattle, but on the average, for a period of years, except in certain limited areas, the man who puts the feed into steers and returns the manure to the land is the one who comes out ahead. The conclusion is based on feeding in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri.

The figures which contain the results of this investigation were obtained from a large number of farms and from several agricultural experiment stations in the Middle West. One phase of the work deals with the cost of maintaining a herd of breeding cows for producing feeder cattle. It was found that feed represented 60 per cent of the cost of keeping a cow for one year, while the other 31 per cent was for interest, labor, equipment and incidentals.

L. C. Montgomery, farmer, Star Route, says: "We are seldom without a box of Doan's Kidney Pills handy in the home. I have used this remedy on several occasions when my kidneys were giving me trouble and it never failed to do me good. I am a farmer and have considerable exposure and hard work to undergo and this puts my kidneys out of order. I have suffered a lot from backache and pains through my hips and there was one time when I was past going. My kidneys were weak and unnatural most of the time. I wanted to pass the secretions every little while, too. When I feel any of these symptoms coming on I go to Spoonamore's Drug Store and get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. After using them a while my troubles become corrected."

Farm and Home News From Over Kentucky

Members of the farmers' organization in Crittenden county are planning to pool their 1922 crop of wool according to County Agent J. R. Spencer. More than 5,000 pounds will be centralized at some point in the county about June 1st.

Acid phosphate this spring has taken an important place in improving McLean county soils. County Agent Robert H. Ford says. More than 30 cars of the fertilizer have been used.

Taylor county farmers are showing a lively interest in soybeans, County Agent J. L. Miller says. In a recent co-operative order for soybean and cowpea seed, which was handled by a Taylor county merchant, the total order for soybean seed was five times as large as that for cowpeas.

Striking points in connection with sheep breeding were pointed out to more than 200 farmers who recently gathered on the farm of S. K. Warren in Warren county to study the methods which he uses, County Agent W. H. Rogers reports. Farmers from adjoining counties as well as those from Warren county displayed keen interest in the six pens of sheep which were displayed to show the methods used in breeding up a flock. Talks also were made by Mr. Warren and other prominent sheepmen and breeders.

Five demonstrations are under way on as many Calloway county farms to determine if spraying with oil is an effective means of killing wild onions, County Agent J. B. Gardner reports. In many sections of the State, this weed is one of the most serious ones with which farmers have to contend.

Stallions In Service 1922 All Peavine 4092

ALL PEAVINE 4092 will make the season of 1922 at my barn on Lexington pike, three miles from Danville, Ky., at $20.00 to insure a living foal.

This National Show Horse has made reputation for himself, both in the show ring and as a sire.

Sired by REX PEAVINE 1796, a champion show horse and an unequalled champion sire.

From him we have such champions as Edna May, Golden Glow, Jack Straw, Queen O' the May, Star Peavine, and many others.

By Rex McDonald—Daisy 2nd, by Peavine 85.

GRAND SIRE REX McDONALD 833, the undisputed champion show horse and sire.

First Dam Lucy Wells 6404, by Peavine 85. A great brood mare by the world's greatest brood mare sire Peavine. His daughters have produced such champions as Lou Chief, Cleopatra, the Frenchman, Edna May, Barthenia McChord, and dozens of others.

A mare by All Peavine 4092, is a sure foundation.

Second Dam, daughter of Harris Denmark.

Third Dam, daughter of John Osely.

If you want to breed to a stallion whose produce commands the highest market prices breed to All Peavine 4092. The price for which his colts have sold are as open as a book. They being sold at public auctions along with other colts—the Peavines have topped the market.

Breeding saddle horses of the highest type is no longer guess work (like begets like) and takes champions to produce champions. Here you have them all in this pedigree, Rex McDonald, Rex Peavine and a double infusion of the champion brood mare sire Peavine (All Peavine 4092) will breed true to his family inheritance of championship blood.

All Peavine 4092 is 15½ hands high and weighs 1,200 pounds.

Julian Peavine

JULIAN PEAVINE is a chestnut sorrel with a beautiful silvery flaxen mane and tail, stands 15½ hands high; has plenty of style and finish. If you are looking for something real fancy to breed to, don't fail to see him, JULIAN PEAVINE will make the season of 1922 at above place at $10.00 to insure a living foal.

Season becomes due when mare is traded or parted with or bred to other stock. Most careful attention of all stock sent to my care, but not responsible should accidents occur.

A lien retained on colts till season is paid.
Pasture for mares from a distance furnished at reasonable rates, but same must be paid before stock is removed.

SWINE FOR HOME SLAUGHTER

Members of Shipping Association in Indiana Solve Problem of Having Pork Supply.

Members of the live stock shipping associations in Dekalb county, Ind., have solved the problem of having fat hogs on hand just when they are ready to do their home butchering, and the United States Department of Agriculture thinks the plan could be worked by other co-operatives. Many of the members of the association who do home butchering often found themselves with hogs ready for market or slaughter before the farmers were prepared for the work. Under these conditions they arrange with the manager of the association to ship their hogs to market at the time the animals are ready, and later, when the farmers are prepared to butcher, they buy the desired number of hogs from the association on the regular shipping day. The hogs are sold to them for the net market price returned to the members contributing hogs to the shipment. This practice is an accommodation to the members, as often a farmer who is raising hogs for home slaughter is not ready to butcher at the time the hogs are in best condition, and he is not prepared to feed them as long as he desires.

KING CORN DISCOVERS RIVAL

Experiments at Nebraska University Show Dried Sugar Beet Pulp is Valuable Feed.

Dried sugar-beet pulp will soon become a real rival of corn in livestock feeding, declares the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

This statement is based on an experiment conducted by the college during which different rations were fed 12 lots of Utah lambs, 31 to each lot, for 100 days, to determine the food value of the sugar-beet by-product in comparison with some of the standard rations, such as corn and alfalfa or corn, alfalfa, and cottonseed cake.

The beet-pulp-fed lambs fed with a profit of $5.80 per head at the end of the period, while the corn-and-alfalfa-fed lot showed a profit of only $1.83 a head. The experiment proved, furthermore, that either corn or dried beet pulp is necessary to produce a finished lamb.

Clipping is a practice that should be more universally adopted than it is, for it is an excellent thing for the work horse that has been idle the greater part of the winter and is put to heavy work during the spring.
